This client, who already had an invoice finance facility in place, needed an alternative offering to cover the shortfall in their funding line

Reward stepped in and structured a Business Finance deal, where personal security was pledged outside the business to fill the working capital gap

The company can now manage growth and the Director's expect to see a significant increase in the business turnover

The deal was referred by a well-known broker

An award winning landscaper approached their bank for additional working capital to fulfil a growing pipeline of work – yet, after several weeks they were unable to get additional funds

After an introduction to Reward, a secured cash flow loan was provided and the business was able complete contracts, pay suppliers and more importantly keep people in jobs

They are undertaking work on some notable landmarks in the North West, which will be a legacy for us all to enjoy

A long established profitable business had encountered a couple of delays on major contracts, which were outside of their control

The re-scheduled dates for delivering the contracts had a negative impact on cash flow, which was further compounded as the incumbent bank was also looking to pull their seasonal overdraft due to a policy change

Reward advanced funds via a Business Finance facility, which was secured against a mixture of corporate and personal assets
